ISN Collective Member Societies

2016

Collective Member Societies membership opportunity

A collective member belongs to an Affiliated Society that has agreed to join the ISN collectively. This means that at least 50% of the members of an Affiliated Society join ISN as a group for a reduced membership fee per member.

The membership rate is broken down into three groups of economies: High income, lower middle income and upper middle income. We use the gross national income (GNI) per capita - World Bank Atlas method (www.data.worldbank.org) to define a fair fee system.

Fee table:

Income Group	Society Members
	100%	90%	80%	70%	60%	50%
Lower Middle Income
- KI paper copy	$100	$105	$110	$115	$120	$125
- KI electronic access	$75	$80	$85	$90	$95	$100
Upper Middle Income
- KI paper copy	$110	$115	$120	$125	$130	$135
- KI electronic access	$85	$90	$95	$100	$105	$110
High Income
- KI paper copy	$130	$135	$140	$145	$150	$155
- KI electronic access	$105	$110	$115	$120	$125	$130

Collective members of ISN are entitled to the same benefits as individual members including:

For your Society leaders

- You receive priority consideration to pitch for the organization of joint events (ISN Forefronts Symposia, ISN Nexus Symposia, ISN World Congress of Nephrology).
- You obtain priority endorsement of your congresses, courses and events.
- You have the possibility to announce congresses, courses and events on the ISN website.
- You receive the ISN Connect e-newsletter, which includes privileged information about ISN strategy, programs and leadership.

For your Society Members

Your members receive all ISN member benefits (full list available at www.theisn.org/membership/become-a-member/benefits); such as

- Subscription to Kidney International (monthly journal) including online access to articles, current issues, and archives (a value of USD 1,150 to USD 2,300 depending on where you

- are located), KI Supplements and KI Reports in addition to receiving reduced subscription rates to Seminars in Nephrology and Nature Reviews Nephrology
- Reduced registration fees to ISN events (World Congress of Nephrology, Forefronts and Nexus Symposia, plus other ISN training programs)
- Unrestricted access to the ISN Gateway (the Society's website)
- Exclusive access to ISN Membership Directory online
- Online access to the quarterly ISN News (the Society's official newsletter)
- E-mail notifications (ISN Connect) on nephrology news, journal content, unique member services and upcoming ISN events
- Voting rights and eligibility to serve on ISN Committees
- And last but not least, possibility to actively participate, through ISN's Outreach Programs and capacity building programs, in making a significant difference in parts of the world that have little or no formal renal care, education or access to knowledge

How to become an ISN Collective Member Society

We ask you to submit your request to the attention of the ISN President, who will review the application on behalf of the Executive Committee. After a pre-approval by the Executive Committee, the ISN Council ratifies the status of the new Affiliated Society electronically or during their next meeting (typically held once or twice a year, during the World Congress of Nephrology in spring and/or at the Renal Week in autumn).

The request can be sent to Mr. Rik Bollaert at ISN headquarters (please see below for his contact details) and has to include:

- The filled-in application form (see end of document).
- An official letter from the Society, addressed to Dr. Adeera Levin, ISN President, stating that
 - the Society wishes to become an ISN Collective Member Society
 - the Society adheres to the Declaration of Istanbul against organ trafficking and transplant tourism
 - the Society adheres to internationally accepted ethical standards in clinical practice and research
- The Constitution (statutes) of the association
- The current membership list
- A short description of the society activities over the past 3 years
